A natural diamond takes thousands of years to come to life. To carve out a diamond with these characteristics is an even rarer phenomenon. Venus Jewel has had the privilege of manufacturing many such exquisite diamonds in its 50+ years of operations, thanks to its excellent craftsmanship, technological advancements and modern business practices.

“Just like the famous Kohinoor diamond, The Royal Oval is a rare Type IIA flawless, beautifully crafted diamond. It took us 105 days to produce this stunning piece of nature from a rough diamond weighing 144 carats,” said Rajesh Shah, partner at Venus Jewel.

Describing this masterpiece as a veritable showstopper and one of the rarest and most beautiful natural diamonds in the world, Shah is inviting everyone to experience The Royal Oval in person at the company's booth, 6J32, at JGW Singapore.

Based in India, Venus Jewel is a trusted global supplier of large-sized premium natural diamonds, ranging from 0.30 to over 30 carats. A pioneer in the natural diamond industry since 1969, it has undertaken trailblazing initiatives to lead and transform the sector. Venus Jewel is a preferred Sightholder of De Beers and a Select Diamantaire of Rio Tinto; and an official supplier of De Beers' Forevermark, Rio Tinto's Mine of Origin (MOO) and Arctic Canadian Diamond Company's CanadaMark.
